

ANCHORAGE SCHOOL DISTRICT

World Languages Program

2011-2012

HIGH SCHOOL The Anchorage School District World Languages Program offers various language options to secondary students. Most high schools offer French, German, Japanese, and Spanish. In addition, two offer Latin; two offer Russian and one offers Chinese.

MIDDLE SCHOOL At the middle school, students enroll in two-year elective courses that are taught with district-adopted curriculum and materials. Students who complete the two years at middle school are prepared for high school Level II or III. In addition, a few schools offer occasional Exploratory semester-long courses in which students receive an introductory experience to language and culture.

There are five partial language immersion programs and two FLES (Foreign Language in the Elementary School) programs that begin at the elementary school level.
