

Lesson #4 - 8th Grade
Doubling the Final Consonant
Dictation Test

1. He zipped through his language arts homework because he heard someone calling him.
2. You're quitting the team without really carefully thinking about it.
3. They admitted to themselves that the weather was certain to change if they waited long enough.
4. The business was permitting its workers to bring animals to work.
5. Did you notice that someone omitted the question from the test?
6. Submitting your opinion to our newspaper brought on a lot of class discussion.
7. That was quite a special occurrence and I might write about it in my journal.
8. Its recurrence on earth probably won't happen again too soon.
9. People need to fix the equipment right the first time.
10. The school is committed to teaching four different languages.