What methods did you use to report the results of your grant to interested members of the public? Some examples would be your school newsletter, parents' meeting, or your school web site.

Kelso's choices posters were displayed in hallways and classrooms. School Newsletter

Major Accomplishment

Classroom presentations were completed by Jennifer Burkholder, school counselor (both at Lake Hood and at Turnagain) on a monthly basis in classrooms K-6. K-3 classrooms were educated in Kelso's choices through posters, role plays, stories and discussions. Teachers have been very supportive and have continued utilizing Kelso's Choices even after the presentations. This is Turnagain's first year with a counselor on staff, so time and effort was put into discussion with staff and administration to explore areas of interest or need for consideration to present to students.

Activity Reports

Kelso's Choices Conflict Management for Children

Brief Description

We procured the Kelso's choices materials and collaborated with teachers to infuse this curriculum into the K-3 regular curriculums. To reinforce lessons, we taught and used strategies to have students solve problems in the classroom, playground and to and from school.

Needs Assessment

Turnagain did not have a school wide discipline program, so teachers were interviewed to discuss options.

Other Comments

Lunch groups

Brief Description

Caring adults were compensated for using their 40 minute duty free lunchtime to eat with their students and help to develop assets. Teachers ate lunch with small groups of students and completed lunches with each of their students.

Needs Assessment

We reviewed school data/scores on peer climate and caring adults and brainstormed activities that might help bring scores up higher.
