

Parent – directed Education

Our unique program is based upon partnerships between families and certified ASD teachers.

Although the majority of FPCS parents home school their children, parents may delegate some of their authority to teachers or others within the community at their choosing, using each student's funding allocation.

With the help of their sponsor teacher, parents decide which curriculum to use and how they will implement their educational goals. This unique partnership allows for customization of each child's education and promotes innovative learning styles among students.

An Anchorage School

District Home School

for grades K-12

“Providing a customized education for every child, beginning at home.”

Current Allotment: (2009-2010)

K-5	$2,600
6-8	$2,800
9-12	$3,500

Family Partnership Charter School

401 E. Fireweed Lane, Suite 100

Anchorage, Alaska 99503

(907) 742-3700

www.fpcs.net

How Does Family Partnership Charter School Work?

MISSION STATEMENT

Family Partnership Charter School is committed to a framework in which the community as a viable educational alternative supports mankind's first and most basic school, the home. The charter school is to be a non-sectarian partnership school between students, parents, professional educators and community members where families will customize an education for their children. It is an association of family-based learners who will utilize a school without walls wherein parents are to bear the primary responsibility for the management of their children's education.

