

Thursday, February 9
6:30–9 p.m.
at Central Middle School of Science
1405 E Street

This is a free event and no
registration is necessary.

Childcare will be provided by the West High School JROTC.

Contact
ASD's STEM Department
at 742-4856
for more information.

Parent University: Math Night

Free event is for parents of elementary and middle school students

The Anchorage School District will host a Parent University: Math Night for families of elementary and middle school students. Parents will learn valuable tips for helping their child with math. The evening will kick off with a brief introduction and overview of the night. Parents will then attend their choice of breakout sessions.

Parents can choose to attend three of the four 40-minute breakout sessions.

Topics include:

- Use of calculators in Everyday Mathematics
- Online games in Everyday Mathematics
- Algorithms in Everyday Mathematics
- MathScape progression and assistance for use at home (grades 7-8)

Sessions will be led by ASD Teacher Experts Penny Williams, Mary Hoppas, Ann Ibele, Shelly Eldred and Jessica Graziano.