Letter from the Editor

This is the last day of school before Spring Break and tomorrow will be an Inservice Day. Teachers will be working on grades and report card. I am planning to have a few parent/teacher conferences with parents who were not able to work a conference into the scheduled times.

I invite the students to sit in on parent/teacher conferences so they can help set up a plan of action that will help them do better next quarter. There should be no surprises on these report cards, since the students have been given weekly progress reports.

Please remember that conference days are also half days for the students and release time on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday will be 12:30. Please provide a snack or lunch for your child on those days. There will be a lunch period for the students.

Homework- for the week of April 3-7- the week after Spring Break

Monday - spelling - p. 123 and 124 -A and B

Write out all sentences.

Tuesday- spelling worksheet

Wednesday- study for spelling test . and start working on research rough draft using notecards. Go to bed early and be on time on Thursday - CAT testing begins

Thursday - work on rough draft for research.

Final research project due on Thursday - April 13.

Curriculum Corner:

Reading: We finished reading the story Who Comes with Cannons . The students also learned more about the Underground railroad and the role it played in history.

Writing Process/English: We worked on persuasive writing and letter writing skills.

Math: Our chapter is on geometry and we worked with a variety of shapes. Students are working with protractors and measuring and drawing angles.

Social Studies: We are reading about the period leading up to the Civil War. Nystorm map lessons were used as well.

Science/Research: The students should have turned in their research notecards to me today. They will be writing their rough drafts for their report after Spring Break. The final paper is due on Thursday, April 13.

Health: We are learning about food groups and nutrition in our Great Body Shop newsletters.
