

Letter from the Editor

Our field trip to the Sealife Center was a tremendous success. We only regret that we couldn't stay longer. We had over 15 parents who joined us and each group had just one or two students. This made the field trip especially nice. It's not often that I can actually enjoy myself as well on a trip like this and I thank you all very much.

I was very pleased with the behavior of the students on both the bus and at the Sealife Center. Everyone enjoyed themselves and showed self control.

This newsletter will be the last for the school year. I had a remarkable year with your wonderful kids and I will miss them very much. This has been one of the most supportive groups of parents I have ever worked with and I'd like to thank you for making my year so special.

There is no homework this week except to bring a brown bag for Thursday. Do not bring a backpack on the last day. Everything should have been taken home except for a pencil.

Curriculum Corner:

Reading: We read the rest of Charlie Skedaddle this week. Students wrote a reaction paragraph about him.

Writing Process/English: We put together our Connect Books last week and all published books were sent home.

Math: We worked with multiplication and division of fractions this week and had a math chapter test on chapter 11.

Social Studies: We covered the Civil War days and answered questions. There was an open book quiz on this chapter on Friday.

Science: We shared information we gathered about the seals and other sea animals from our field trip to the Sealife Center.

Health: We finished reading about blood and AIDS in our health newsletter this week.

Brown Bag Picnic

We enjoyed lunch on the hillside with a few parents who joined us for the brown bag lunch.

Summer is just 1 day away!! Let's make it a safe and healthy one.
