Daily Announcements for
Thursday, January 26th 2012

From the CRC:

Junior/Senior Ladies – ConocoPhillips is sponsoring a mentoring session this afternoon at their building in Anchorage. This is a chance to meet prominent women in the oil industry and share your aspirations with them. Great networking opportunity for ladies only! See Mrs. Smith in the CRC for more information.

Saint Martin's University will be visiting today during 3rd hour. This is your opportunity to speak directly with a representative. Stop by the CRC for a pass to meet with him.

UAA Preview Day is almost here! If you picked up a permission slip but haven't returned it, then you need to get it in! Need details? Stop by the CRC!

Parking Permits

If you have not purchased a 2nd semester parking permits now is the time to do so. Security will be checking the parking lot and issuing tickets for incorrect or missing permits.

Try-outs for WACKO

Tryouts to be Bruiser or one of the MC's at WACKO will be today at lunch in Mr. Klaameyer's room C118. Make sure you bring your school spirit and are ready to get loud and hype the judges!

In two days, at 7:30 p.m. the boy's hockey team will play against Chugiak for the last time EVER... in the regular season – be at the MAC on Saturday to cheer our team to victory!

The Wolf Pack is going to be twirling ERHS rally towels, so if you want join them, they will be selling them during lunch, in the spirit store, and at the game for only three dollars.

Junior Class: If you tried for our Tug-o-war, Graveyard, Egg Toss, Hula Polooza, or Dodgeball teams, but didn't make the cut, there are still open spots in other events so just let one of student government officers know, and they will work to get you on a team.

There is no DDF practice after school today, please see Ms. Spencer for a schedule for this weekend's tournament.

Attention Boys Soccer Players

There will be open gym here at ERHS on Saturday the 28th from 10 to 11 AM for soccer players.

Sign language club, today is Thursday, which means we are meeting for more learning and laughter. Anyone interested in learning how to talk with your hands is welcome at today's sign language club lunchtime meeting in room A103.

Dress Code Reminder

Short skirts are not to be worn at school. Students who ignore this suggestion will be given discipline consequences.
