SOUTH ANCHORAGE HIGH SCHOOL

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Seniors:

Congratulations on your high school graduation. This event serves as an important rite of passage symbolizing your independence and newfound freedom. Like most rites of passage, graduation signifies a separation from what has become familiar to you over the last thirteen years. Next fall you will be doing something different, and that will probably feel strange. However, that feeling will also give you the opportunity to experience a transition period in which your learning and personal growth will accelerate. This time, that learning will most likely come from life rather than from books. I encourage you to use this time period to take calculated risks, try new things, meet new people, and explore places that have hitherto been strange to you. Tolerating that strange newness for a while will ultimately result in a newfound sense of comfort in your own ability to face uncertainties, adapt, and overcome. To that end, I'll leave you all with a brief verse from Virgil's Aeneid, which captures this sentiment, "Through chances various, through all vicissitudes, we make our way."
