

What is the Chugach Way?

"The library is the heart of Chugach."

-from a video that was created when Chugach was first created back in 1973

Over 40 years later, our library is still considered the heart of our school. Before the remodel in 2005, the library was literally in the middle of the building. From what I understand, to get from one side of the building to the other, you needed to walk through the library. During the remodel, it was planned to have the library at the end of the hallway so that the flow moves into the beautiful space that is our library today.

Chugach's library is unique. It is an essential piece of our Chugach program. We have an 'open door' policy, both literally and figuratively. To encourage and support our students to be 'in-charge learners', we invite our students to come to a safe, learning environment to work independently or in groups on a variety of topics and projects or just to come and take a break!

The love of learning and the love of reading are revered at Chugach. I am honored to be a part of the rich history of Chugach library. Chugach community of all ages, come on down and visit anytime...
