Dear Parents,

Happy Thanksgiving!

It is a short week and our spelling will reflect that – we are doing Thanksgiving words.

We will be doing consumer math on Wednesday for Thanksgiving! This is one of the student's favorite assignments. They should be able to tell you where to buy the cheapest ingredient for your Thanksgiving dinner!

We will be doing a fraction lesson on Wednesday afternoon involving pies. I need 6 people to bring in a pie. If you are willing, please email me. I will also be sending home permission slips today.

Wednesday we will be having a quiz on the laws of motion and simple machines. If your child has been trying to build a Rube Goldberg machine or suddenly wants a Newton's Cradle for Christmas – HURRAY! They have been really into this unit!

Scholastic books are always a great Christmas present! Scholastic.com and our class code is H8DPZ.

We have a lot of events coming up in December. I hate springing things on parents – especially at Christmas time! So this is what I know:

November 27 – Dress up day! Wear your favorite color or your uniform.

December 9 and 10 – MAP testing in the morning

December 6 – Parent Present Project Day!

December 17 – Winter Concert 7 p.m. Nice Dress requested for students

December 19 – Pajama Day! Candy Trains! Last Day!

I am asking the students to make a donation of $3 for the parent present project. I would love for them to earn it themselves if you have a way for them to earn money. It will be a nice gift for you to keep!

Candy Trains! This is so much fun! Some of you may have seen these trains come home through the years. It also involves a ton of parent help. So if you are available on Thursday December 19 at 2:15. I would love your help! Each child volunteered to bring something (ie candy or pretzels, etc.) to help with the trains. It needs to be specific – the trains go together in a very specific way so if you are not sure of an item, please ask me. Each child also needs to bring a cookie/baking sheet to make their train on.

I know this is a lot so if you are not able to contribute to these events – it is not a problem!

Thank you!!!
