This week for Black History Month we are celebrating politics and civil rights leaders. Bettye Jean Davis was an social worker and politician. She was the first African-American to be elected as an Alaska State Senator in 2000. Senator Davis was referred to as "the conscience of the Legislature" due to her advocacy for programs which supported vulnerable Alaskans. In July 2020, Bettye Davis East Anchorage High School, a high school in Anchorage was renamed in her honor.^[9]
